Figure 1 Diagram illustrating the study design. The study was conducted in two phases. In the first phase, 100 subjects were recruited from the community and screened for eligibility. In the second phase, 50 subjects were recruited from the community and screened for eligibility. The subjects were then randomized into two groups: the intervention group and the control group. The intervention group received the intervention, and the control group received the control. The subjects were then followed up for 12 weeks. The primary outcome was the change in the number of falls. The secondary outcome was the change in the number of falls resulting in injury.
